There is no distance which can still the voice of deathless love —

This service is the harvest that a lifetime of love has tended in our hearts:

For all life grows riper and fuller when rooted in the lives of upright men and women.

*All life becomes lovelier when it is watered by streams of memory and

A Message from Our Rabbi

Beloved Friends,

Rosh Hashanah is a time for optimism and hope. We look to a New Year with new opportunities and challenges. We pray that in the coming year we will be able to worship together in health, study together in blessing and pursue social justice side by side. We all anxiously await the end of the pandemic, and return of the warm embrace, and pray that 5783 holds the promise of a brighter future

Yom Kippur is dedicated to self-reflection and renewed commitment. Even as we gather apart and together through our screens, we are secure in the knowledge that we are one in spirit and one in friendship. We are connected. We remain a congregation whose vision is to be a Jewish community of meaningful connection.

Towards the end of this day, we think of our loved ones who are no longer with us in life, but who remain a part of our lives through the tenderness of memory. Each one continues to guide through the lessons they taught and lived. We are strengthened through memory and address the present with confident resolve living on the foundation lovingly built by loved ones of past generations.

At this season we recall their lives with steadfast love. We pray that as we remember their love for us, God will give us the courage and strength to honor their memory through the way we live our lives and confront the challenges before us. Zecher tzadik l'vracha, the memory of the righteous is a blessing for us all. Amen.

L'Shanah Tova tikateivu v'tichateimu,
May you be inscribed and sealed in the Book of Life

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Paul F. Cohen', enclosed within a large, stylized oval flourish.

Rabbi Paul F. Cohen, D.Min., D.D.

The Spirit of Life

Do not stand at my grave and weep,

I am not there;

I do not sleep.

I am a thousand winds that blow.

I am the diamond glints on snow.

I am the sunlight in ripened grain.

I am the gentle autumn rain.

When you awaken in the morning's hush,

I am the swift upflinging rush of quiet birds circling flight.

I am the soft star that shines at night.

Do not stand at my grave and cry,

I am not there;

I did not die.

---

On Life and Death

From Psalm 139

O God, You have searched me and know me well,

You understand my thoughts

And every word upon my tongue.

Your presence surrounds me;

You touched me with Your hand.

It exceeds my own perception;

It is a wonder beyond imagining.

Where can I escape your spirit?

Where can I flee from Your presence?

If I ascend to heaven, You are there.

If I descend to Sheol, You are also there.

If I fly on the wings of morning

To dwell beyond the farthest seas,

even there Your hand will guide me and support me.

If I say: "let darkness hide me and turn the light to darkness,"

even the darkness is not dark for You;

the night shines forth like day;

the darkness is a light for You.

How precious are Your thoughts to me, O God,

how endless their number,

more numerous than the grains of sand.

When I awake, I am still with You.

Search my soul, O God, and know my heart.

If there is sorrow in me,

lead me in Your everlasting ways.

The Beauty of Remembrance

○ Eternal, in whom there is no forgetfulness. We are aware at this moment, of our indebtedness to all our beloved who have gone before; and to all those grand souls of our people, who have somehow made the world better, for having lived in it. We pledge our remembrance, that we infuse their dreams into the way we live.

We remember them —
As long as we live, they too will live;
For they are now part of us...
As we remember them.

The Memory of the Righteous Is a Blessing

To everything there is a season,
A time for everything under the sun:
A time to be born and a time to die
A time to laugh and a time to cry
A time to dance and a time to mourn
A time to seek and a time to lose.
This is the time we remember
those who gave meaning to our lives.
This is the time we remember
the bonds that tied us together,
the love that we shared,
and the memories that remain with us still.

Gift of Memory

The gift of memory is very precious; it helps us taste the pleasures of life long after they have passed our lips; it brings back the dear features of those gone for a while; it preserves us from the superficialities of today and the airiness of tomorrow by giving us the depth and weight of yesterday; it tempers the onrush of the present, and the allure of the future, by the wise whispers of the past.

The Kaddish

Its origin is mysterious; angels are said to have brought it down from heaven and taught it to humanity. About this prayer the tenderest threads of filial feeling and human recollection are entwined; for it is the prayer of the orphans! When the father or mother dies, the surviving children are to recite it throughout the year of mourning, and then also on each recurring anniversary of the death — on the Yahrzeit.

It possesses wonderful power. Truly, if there is any bond strong and indissoluble enough to chain heaven to earth, it is this prayer. It keeps the living together and forms the bridge to the mysterious realm of the dead. One might also say that this prayer is the guardian of the people by whom alone it is uttered; therein lies the warrant of its continuance. Can a people disappear and be annihilated so long as a child remembers its parents? It may sound strange: Honoring the memory of our parents calls us to be better ourselves.

Because this prayer is a resurrection in the spirit of the perishable in us, because it does not acknowledge death, because it permits the blossom, which, withered, has fallen from the tree of humanity to flower and develop again in the human heart, therefore, possesses sanctifying power. To know that when you die, the earth falling on your head will not cover you entirely; to know that there remain behind, those who, wherever they may be on this wide earth, whether they may be poor or rich, will send this prayer after you; to know that you leave them no house, no estate, no field by which they must remember you, and that yet they will cherish your memory as their dearest inheritance—what more satisfying knowledge can you even hope for? And such knowledge is bequeathed to us all by the Kaddish.

The Meaning of Yahrzeit Anniversary of a Death Observance

The observance of the anniversary of a death goes back to Talmudic Times. From those days down to the present, it has been customary to observe the day solemnly and to avoid feasting and celebration. The practice of kindling a Yahrzeit light in the home on the anniversary of the death is a universal one. The obligation to be present in the synagogue to memorialize the departed on the Yahrzeit is a religious duty.

The religious value of the Yahrzeit is in the spiritual link between each of us and our departed. Reform Judaism sees in the Yahrzeit observance a moment of pause from the cares and anxieties of the world, when our beloved live again in the communion of prayer. We, at Temple Jeremiah, recall our beloved in the embrace of other worshippers on Friday evening and Sabbath morning in our sacred spaces. We gain strength as we praise God's name in the Kaddish for the gift of their lives. In our home, we kindle the Yahrzeit light, a symbol of the faith and hope that does not falter. Many, on a Yahrzeit, contribute to a worthy religious cause within the Temple, strengthening the work of our congregation. Thus, we build a bridge of memory and hope between the land of the living and the realm of eternal life.

May God's great name come to be magnified and sanctified in the world God brought into being. May God's majestic reign prevail soon in your lives, in your days, and in the life of the whole House of Israel; and let us say: Amen. May God's great name be blessed to the end of time. May God's holy name one to be blessed, acclaimed, and glorified; revered, raised, and beautified; honored and praised. Blessed is the One who is entirely beyond all the blessings and hymns, all the praises and words of comfort that we speak in the world; and let us say: Amen. Let perfect peace abound; let the be abundant life for us and for all Israel. May the One who makes peace in the high heavens make peace for us, and all Israel; and let us say: Amen.
